CENTURY COMPUTERS SIGNS AGREEMENT WITH GOOD™ AND SPRINT PCS, LAUNCHES REAL-TIME EMAIL SYNCHRONIZATION FOR MOBILE BUSINESS USERS

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

WEDNESDAY, MAY 8, 2004

HONOLULU, HI – INNOVATIVE ALL-IN-ONE WIRELESS OFFERING ENABLES CENTURY COMPUTERS TO CATER TO MOBILE USERS WHO NEED REAL-TIME ACCESS TO THEIR OFFICE EMAIL, CONTACTS, CALENDAR AND DOCUMENTS.

A new, no-cradle wireless technology that has enabled mobile phone maker palmOne to capture the US wireless market for business users is now offered by Century Computers. The Honolulu-based technology provider has signed agreements with Good™ and Sprint PCS to sell exclusively palmOne's latest phone, Treo™ 600, together with the innovative technology, allowing users to gain instant access to their mailboxes via their phones.

The wireless offering, available to all business customers, includes an unlimited data plan from Sprint PCS, a smart phone Treo™ 600, and a Goodlink 3.0 software license from Good Technology.

The new wireless solution offers unique benefits to business users on-the-go

Good's new software, Goodlink 3.0 is unique because it provides secure, real-time mailbox synchronization between a user's desktop and mobile phone without the need for a cradle device. palmOne's latest product, Treo 600 is currently one of the best smart phones that successfully integrates phone, email and calendaring capabilities.

Both Goodlink and Treo 600 are easy to use and the learning curve is minimal. Treo's utility is maximized by its new compact design, the built-in QWERTY keyboard and the creative "five-way" button that controls nearly all of its functions. For those familiar with Microsoft Outlook®, Goodlink is very simple to work with. Customers can compose an e-mail or look up a contact with only a couple of clicks. In addition, they can easily view, edit, print, fax or forward PDF, Excel, Word files and other attachments. They can even deliver presentations directly from their device.

Goodlink makes it possible for every new email that reaches a user's desktop to be pushed instantly to his or her smart phone. A newly scheduled meeting or newly added contact will also be updated automatically and made available on the wireless device in real time. If a customer is using the Treo phone to open, delete, forward or file messages, these changes will be synched instantly with his or her desktop, eliminating the need to manage and sort through duplicate information.

With the new Goodlink-enabled Treo, customers can access their email, calendar and contacts without delays, and without having to connect physically their desktop and smart phone. The solution is great for business users who spend most of their time meeting clients and prospects outside of their offices. Because the flow of information happens wirelessly, these users can now have their mailboxes updated remotely in real time, regardless of their physical location, with the latest email and data available on their phones 24x7.

Solution availability and business requirements

The new wireless solution is available to all new and existing customers as of May 1, 2004. Century Computers provides the entire package, including the data plan from Sprint PCS, the phone, and the software license. The company will also be providing the initial setup and individual user training. Microsoft Exchange is a requirement for Goodlink to be able connect to corporate email systems. Businesses that are not running on MS Exchange and use email clients other than Outlook will be offered additional deployment options.

About Good Technology

Good Technology provides the best mobile enterprise software on the most powerful smart phones and mobile platforms, with the best wireless carriers, delivered by the most trusted channels. Good delivers products for the mobile professional. The Good System includes messaging and corporate data access and a full suite of management features and functions. Goodlink's suite enables users to multi-task and be more productive. It also lowers the cost of ownership of wireless email solutions, since it does not require desktop software or a cradle to perform synchronization, eliminating overhead.

Good offers customers flexibility by supporting only industry-standard hardware and platforms. This allows an enterprise to choose their wireless carrier, platform, network and a variety of devices including the TREO 600 and PocketPC devices. Its integration with third-party applications lets users view, edit and interact with documents and attachments, providing the most complete laptop-like experience. Over 1,600 enterprise customers have selected GoodLink as their corporate standard, including Aventis-Behring, UnumProvident, CB/Richard Ellis, Liz Claiborne, Visa, Dell, Texas Instruments and EDS. GoodLink empowers their mobile professionals to communicate more efficiently with customers, suppliers and partners when they're on the road or away from their desks.
